American Gem Society Credit Card Program

Volume Rebate[1]

Price Sheet Addition

Wells Fargo Retail Services[2] wants to help you grow your consumer finance program.

Wells Fargo wants all of your consumer finance business and, as an incentive, is offering a quarterly Volume Rebate[1] for dealers who produce $40,000 or more American Gem Society Credit Card Program net charge volume[3] in a given quarter. The incentive is based on the table below and will be directly deposited into the bank account we have on file.

Example Volume Rebate payments based on quarterly net charge volume:

Quarterly Net Charge Volume[3]	Multiplier	Example of Volume Rebate Earned
$40,000 – $99,999.99	.0025	$56,000 X .0025 = $140
$100,000 – $199,999.99	.0050	$165,000 X .0050 = $825
$200,000 – $399,999.99	.0060	$285,000 X .0060 = $1,710
$400,000 +	.0070	$500,000 X .0070 = $3,500

Wells Fargo reserves the right to stop offering any rebates, bonuses, or volume incentives at any time with or without notice to you.

Together we'll go far

[1] In order to receive any rebate, bonus, or volume incentive payment, including the Volume Rebate set forth above, your company must not be in breach or default of the Agreement following the end of the calendar quarter during which any rebate was earned.

[2] This document is provided by Wells Fargo Retail Services in connection with the American Gem Society Member Agreement between you and Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. Please keep this with your agreement for reference.

[3] Net charge volume is defined as the total of all purchase volume posted to accounts minus any credits, other than payments, on accounts.
